

Employment rate

Share of employees subject to social insurance contributions of a certain age group in the overall population of the same age. In contrast to the working population rate, the employment rate only considers employees subject to social insurance contributions, but not, for example, self-employed persons or people in marginal employment; therefore, it is lower than the working population rate.

Verwandte Artikel:

- „We need legal migration to stabilise the Italian social security system“. An interview with Professor Tito Boeri
- What do we know about the employment of refugees in Germany? Answers to some frequently asked questions.
- The German Employment Performance in an International Context
- German labour market in an international context